

Hydroelectric power

Water runs down pipes from the reservoir	The water runs back into the sea.
The running water turns turbines in the power station. The turbines turn generators which make electricity.	Rain falls and runs down into streams and rivers. Some water is collected in reservoirs.
Dam	The water condenses to form clouds. Some clouds blow over the land.
Energy from the sun evaporates water from the sea.	Reservoir